MUSICAL COMPANY
COMING TO RAMONA

A. N. McDonald, a well known producer in musical comedy circles of the East, is in the city arranging final details for the opening of the engagement, this coming Sunday, of "Mack's Merry Mermaids," scheduled for an extended season at the Ramona.

McDonald has been exceptionally successful in musical comedy work in eastern cities. Associated for several years with the Savage organization, as well as the Princess theater of New York, and the several Polies companies, his attention has been always directed toward this angle of theatricals, and he has succeeded in organizing a company culled from the finest musical aggregations traveling.

The company which will start its engagement at the Ramona Sunday boasts in its chorus of one of the most accomplished singing and dancing assets that any company yet reaching the West has carried. The Delightful Dancing Dollies, as they are known in the East, doubtless will prove a veritable riot with the Phoenix fans.

The principals include such well known talent as Pat Patterson, Anita Meredith, A. Cotton, Victor Vernon, Betty Fowler, Allen Johnson and Mabel Lorraine.

McDonald announces that it will be the policy of the Mermaids to offer the newest lines of comedy, the latest songs and dance numbers, exceptional scenic effects, and a wardrobe that will make many a feminine heart flutter with envy. The program will be changed twice weekly.

"It has always been my desire," said McDonald, "to play an engagement in Phoenix. It is surprising how well known this city is in the East. But a visit here will prove, in spite of all that has been heard of its charms, a revelation. I predict a very successful engagement for the Mermaids, for Phoenix has proved to me it is thoroughly cosmopolitan."

Toft's Country Club

Do you "parlez vous Français, monsieur?" No? Well, there is a chance for you to learn all about the petit nomenclature Saturday night at the big French party at Toft's Country club, a night in Paris. On the boulevard or in the Palais Royal you wouldn't see anything Frenchier than this big screen which at Toft's, when all the madams and the mademoiselles congregate to meet mon frere et mon pere.

When you step into the big hall room Saturday night you will think that everyone should be named Henri Haye or Mersereau Pommedeterre. If you can't trace your ancestry to sunny Brittany or back to Napoleon's family or Joffre's, it won't make any particular difference, for there will be some of the French nobility there to invest you with French raiment so that no one will ever know but that you have just returned from Paris.

And that old whistling music from the American will be there early, playing "on ze boulevard," so you will soon be filled with French atmosphere.

Sousvenir Matinee at Elks

The Brandon Stock company at the Elks theater will give its second sousvenir matinee today at 2:30. The offering will be the exhilarating comedy of eternal youth, "Why Grow Old," starring Victor Vernon, who is getting more laughs and genuine applause than half a dozen ordinary shows.

The sousvenir matinee last Wednesday.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS PULMOTOR BUT IT'S RARELY USED

"Life can't mean very much to Phoenixians," declared Fire Chief William Simmons yesterday as he concluded a long drill with his men on the use of the pulmomotor.

"You know, we've had this life restoring machine here for over two years and have had but one occasion to use it. It is a wonderful apparatus and will actually restore life in instances of electric shock, drowning or suffocation by smoke after a person has apparently been dead for several minutes. But we go on drilling just the same, fully believing that an opportunity will present itself when we can practically apply the pulmomotor and convince the public at large as to its capabilities," he continued.

The apparatus is on duty 24 hours each day, seven days each week. I would like to emphasize that it is for public use."

The pulmomotor, made by the Draeger company, has attachments for persons of varying ages. There is a special attachment for infants, another for women and still a third for men. Its delicate mechanism requires expert handling, however; otherwise its effects may be negligible. Unless it is properly operated, it is stated, no good can come from its operation, for it must be pumped with the natural action of the lungs to bring about the desired results, it is stated.

Regular weekly drills are conducted by Fire Chief Simmons in the use of the pulmomotor, notwithstanding the lack of interest on the part of the public. Weekly drills are also held by firemen in the use of the smoke helmets, which have figured so prominently in several large eastern fires recently.

A "smoke room" in the fire station is completely filled with smoke and firemen, wearing the smoke helmets, enter. The tests last for 30 minutes. In the event of a flaw, the wearer emerges as soon as it is discovered. The helmets were last worn when the Saratoga restaurant on West Washington street caught fire several weeks ago. A rooming house above was filled with smoke and firemen donned the helmets in searching the premises to make sure that all occupants had made their way to safety.

'SOCIAL SURVEY' AND Y.W.C.A. TOPICS AT THE WOMAN'S CLUB

A better understanding of the living conditions of the city, county and state was urged by Captain Victor Harding yesterday in a stirring address on "Social Survey" made before the Woman's club. Captain Harding appealed to the entire membership to urge the women to an intelligent understanding of the situation, believing that the knowledge would produce a finer type of civilization. Ignorance and indifference were given as the causes of the great proportion of negligible citizens by the speaker.

Miss Ada Gordon, Pacific coast secretary of the Y. W. C. A., also appeared on the program and in a convincing manner placed before her audience the conditions which brought about the founding of the world wide organization of the Y. W. C. A., in Boston 54 years ago.

The 23,000,000 women and girls in the United States earning their own living became the purpose of the organization, said Miss Gordon, who stated that the features of the work included such problems as the housing, educational and mental development, physical health and recreation, social supervision and spiritual supervision.

"In a word, the association emphasized preventative rather than corrective work."

The program of varied interests was presented under the auspices of the home economics department of which Mrs. J. P. Ivy is chairman. One of the delightful numbers was presented by Mrs. C. C. Miller, Jr., who contributed to the enjoyment with her songs. Mrs. Miller has a charming voice and her selections were well chosen. She sang "A Pastoral" by Carey; "My Lovely Colia" by George Monroe, and "Bon Jour Ma Belle" by Dehrend. Two violin numbers were presented by Eugene Redewill, who played ballet music from "Rosalinde" by Schubert-Kreiser and "Camsonetta" by D'Ambruso.

For an encore Mr. Redewill gave one of his own fine compositions, which was artistically executed.

ROTARIANS TO LUNCH
AT TWOHY BROS. CAMP

The committee in charge of the Rotary club luncheon and meeting on Friday at Twohy Brothers' road camp announces that Rotarians should be at the Y. M. C. A. promptly at 11:30 a. m. with motor cars to take those members who are not provided with transportation. If there are more cars than needed, they may be parked at the Y until the return.

Departure will be made promptly at 12:05 o'clock. Follow the Buckeye road to Grand Corners and then turn to Fowler school house, near which is the road camp. The Rotarians will be the guests of Twohy Brothers at luncheon, which will be at 12:50 at the mess house. During the luncheon there will be a short program. Following the luncheon there will be an inspection of the plant and the work in progress. The return trip will start at 1:40 to reach town shortly after 2 o'clock.

The committee and Twohy Brothers have planned for a fine luncheon and a good program and a 100 per cent attendance is desired.
